WLNE-TV / ABC6's involvement in community events blankets our entire viewing area.

Events such as:

- Jerry Lewis MDA Telethon
WLNE-TV/ABC6 has been carrying the telethon for 12 years now
- Each week, ABC6's Pick of the Litter Campaign has helped the SPCA to find homes for hundreds, if not thousands of animals. Because of the exposure, each time the Pick of the Litter segment airs the SPCA receives hundreds of phone calls. We provide direct hands-on care to more than 250,000 animals each year.
- Daffodil Days supports the Society's mission to eliminate cancer by encouraging people to make contributions to the Society and receive daffodils. This year with the help of ABC6 the American Cancer Society of RI was able to raise over $190,000.
- The ABC6 Sun Smarts program is a public service campaign aimed at educating viewers about the sun's powerful UV rays and teaching "safe sunning" techniques. The program was extremely successful and at each event there were an average of 150-175 people in line to be screened.
- Audubon Society's International Coastal Cleanup
The International Coastal Cleanup mission is to remove debris from the shorelines, waterways, and beaches of the world's lakes, rivers and oceans above and below the water. In 2006, with the help of ABC6 1,800 volunteers cleared 16,000 pounds of debris tossed up by the tide or left by beachgoers.
- American Diabetes Association
Throughout the year ABC6 assists the ADA in numerous community events. For example, "Oscar Night America" held on March, 6th helped to raise thousands of dollars. Also ABC6 sponsors 3 ADA walks which also raise funds to support the ADA.

Additional = Thanks ABC 6 for improving Cape Cod coverage. There are still some bugs to be worked out in the weather graphics. The computer map you use to show the high temperatures needs to be adjusted to include not just Falmouth, but Hyannis and Provincetown as well, that way you have the WHOLE Cape covered. Next, you need to include not just Martha's Vineyard, but Nantucket as well. This is basic stuff that you should have noticed and knew that viewers would notice. Showing the high (lows too would be nice) in different parts of southeastern New England is great, but don't just slap something together, put some work into it. Outdo the other stations. Right now Channel 6 still looks like a low budget amateur operation. You need to come up with something the other stations do not have. I'm an Emerson College alumni, I know good TV news. By being the first RI station to cover Cape Cod weather, you could have something the other RI stations do not, but you have to do it right. Channels 10 and 12 stubbornly refuse to cover Cape Cod weather and rarely cover Cape Cod news. It would be great if Channel 6 became the station that Rhode Islanders and Cape Codders could turn to. Take this idea for example: Channel 12 breaks down their forecast high temperatures for the next day by zooming in to different parts of RI and southeastern Massachusetts. They first zoom into Providence metro, then southern RI, northern RI, and SE Mass, but only down to New Bedford. If channel 6 did something similar to this, but included Cape Cod, they would offer something Channel 12 did not. Channel 6 should also do this for low temps as well, including Cape Cod. It's little things like this that could mean more viewers for Channel 6. How about including the time and temp with the bug in the bottom right corner like Channel 10, but transitioning to show temps for different cities like Providence, Newport, New Bedford, and Hyannis. With that, you would outdo Channel 10. Little ideas like this could mean better ratings.

Hi = More Thanks to ABC 6 and Mr Hummel!!! As you (Jim Hummel) could see by attendance at the NK School Board meeting last night there is a great deal of interest in the details of the allegations of the investigation put into motion. To get that kind of turn out 5 days before Christmas is really doing something!!! The fact that you might be in attendance forcing the issue of accountability. But as you can see the "let's wait and keep silent about it" approach seems the order of the day for the new Chair and Vice Chair.

Parents and tax payers of NK truly appreciate your continued efforts to see this issue through to it's final conclusion.

Best to the folks at ABC 6 in the New Year and hoping you all enjoy a peaceful and joyful Holiday Season.

Dear Jack:

I am writing on behalf of the board, staff, and clients of the Greater New Bedford Women's Center to express our deepest appreciation for your participation in our recent Men Who Cook event. By preparing and donating food for this community event, you helped us to raise more than $20,000 for the Women's Center. What a wonderful way to help victims of domestic violence and sexual assault and inspire others to get involved!

I am happy to report that the event was a big success. And we couldn't have done it without you and your fellow chefs!

The money that was raised by Men Who Cook will help us to provide free programs and services for victims of domestic violence and sexual assault. A 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization, the Greater New Bedford Women's Center provides free and confidential shelter for women and families escaping violence, counseling, group support, medical and legal advocacy, a 24-hour hotline, our child trauma program, community outreach and violence prevention programs throughout the Greater New Bedford area.

We are fortunate to have caring community partners like you, who make these programs possible. We deeply appreciate your continued support and commitment to this event and to the mission of the Women's Center.

I hope you enjoyed yourself at Men Who Cook. We look forward to seeing you there again next year. In the meantime, should you have any questions about our programs and services, please call me at (508) 996-3343.

This year's event raised over $10,000 that will be used not only for research, but to benefit the local families of children and adults who suffer with these diseases. These benefits include wheelchairs, equipment, summer camps, MDA-funded clinics and community resources.

Heartfelt thanks, again.

On behalf of our staff, volunteers, and most importantly, those we serve, I thank you for your generous support of the American Red Cross of Greater New Bedford by providing getting us in touch with JR and helping out with publicity and marketing for our second auction to benefit our Hunger Relief and Disaster Programs. It is only through the generous gifts of time and energy and thoughtful contributions of our supporters that the American Red Cross of Massachusetts Bay - South Coast Area is able to make a positive impact in many people's lives. Please know that we are deeply grateful for this generosity.

Your donation will help us serve those individuals and families affected by disasters by providing for the most basic human needs in times of crisis: food, shelter, clothing and other immediate emergency needs. The American Red Cross, a 501(c)(3) organization, working through volunteers and with generous donations such as yours, helps families concentrate on recovery by meeting their immediate and long-term needs after the devastating effects of disasters.

We cannot emphasize enough the importance of your support because all Red Cross assistance is free of charge, and we thank you again for helping us begin a new tradition in the New Bedford Area!

We hope we can continue to work with each other promoting the cooperation and support of local businesses, non-profit agencies, and volunteers in our community. Evan, your talent and professionalism were the key in the complete and overwhelming success of our debate. We could not have picked a more perfect person to moderate this event. Your complete control and timing resulted in a very professional and organized debate.

Dear Pete:

We speak for ourselves only but we suspect that we represent the majority of your female listeners (who, incidently, if statistics are to be believed, make up the larger segment of your listening audience).

We always looked at Saturday mornings as our little corner of WBSM. Jean Caya Bancroft was an intelligent, educated, classy woman. Evan Rousseau has absolutely none of these qualities.

Jean gave us a real open lines program with a dedicated pulse on the community (and none of the sports drivel). Instead, Evan gives us on-going commentary on how great he is and talks primarily with the Seven (mental) Dwarfs who have nothing to say but call every day to say it.

Jean was professional with a strong command of the English language. Evan's English is an embarrassment to himself, to New Bedford Voke-Tech and, above all, to the radio station.

Jean was on-air once a week and we would have liked to have heard more of her. Evan is on seven times - count them: seven - and we would truly like to hear much less of him.

As long time listeners to WBSM, it came as no surprise to us that you chose to replace your only woman commentator with yet another man. You have done this consistently throughout the years (remember Judy, Barbara, Irene, etc?).

We enjoy having local radio and want to remain as listeners but, please, give us at least our Saturday mornings back!

Sven Beckstam

Dear Susan:

On behalf of Dartmouth Mall, I would like to thank you for sponsoring the Summer Reading Program this year. We had 313 children sign up for the program, which was the highest number of sign-ups we've had since the program began. Having Fun 107 and WBSM as sponsors gave the program great credibility, and the support you gave to us in the way of publicity, the live remotes, giveaways, and kids activities was invaluable. Please extend my thanks to Christine Fox and the remote staff...they did an awesome job at every event! If you have any suggestions on how we can improve the program next year, I would be very grateful. It's always a pleasure to work with you.

Sincerely,

Dear J. R.:

You have made a significant difference in the lives of Adam Escobar and Eric Moreira. Dartmouth High School's staff, students and parents thank you for providing this valuable work-based learning experience. Please extend our appreciation to all of those who shared their expertise with our students.

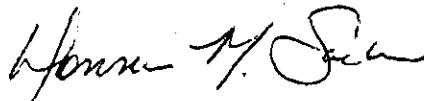

By opening your doors, you enabled our interns to gain a better understanding of the connection between work and learning. In doing so, you have shown the workforce of tomorrow that lifelong learning is essential for the SouthCoast to be competitive in today's economy.

Many of our interns have called their internships "the best experience of my life" and have used the internships as the basis for their college essays and their career portfolios. Each intern's portfolio documents this life-changing opportunity including the skills acquired and knowledge gained at your site. Hopefully you have had a chance to see this firsthand.

I look forward to working with you again next year so that we may continue to prepare our young people to become productive, contributing members of our future workforce.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Dear J.R.:

Please accept a most sincere thank-you on behalf of the United Way of Greater New Bedford for your recent generous donation to our silent auction which was part of the 10th Annual Clambake with Lobster fundraiser on Friday, June 11th.

Your charitable donation of a Family Fun Pack to Six Flags was used as part of a silent auction featuring merchandise, sports memorabilia and gift certificates from a wide array of area merchants, sports teams and restaurants.

The silent auction is a very important facet of the Clambake, this year bringing in over $9,000 of the $22,000 raised at the event. We owe this success to community minded individuals like yourself who realize the value and importance of supporting local charities.

Last year, one in four area residents received assistance from a United Way supported agency. This incredible level of community support would not be possible without help from local residents and businesses.

Again, thank you for your generosity and support!

Sincerely,

Michelle N. Hantman

Thanks for always helping me out!
